FIGHTING BOB EVANS

Undergoes a Cross Examination at the Hands of Mr. Rayner.

QUESTIONED AS TO PLAN OF BATTLE.

He Said None Had Been Promulgated by Commodore—Newspaper Reporter Tells What He Knows About the Fight.

Washington, Oct. 1.—The proceeding of the day began as usual with the recall of former witnesses who had completed their testimony for the purpose of making verbal corrections.

Admiral Evans was then recalled. Mr. Rayner began his interrogations by asking the witness concerning the rectitude of signals for communicating with the Cuban insurgents near Cienfuegos. The admiral said that when Captain Chadwick communicated this code to him he did not instruct him to give the information to Commodore Schley. Mr. Rayner then questioned the witness especially as to his interviews with Schley after the battle of Santiago. "Yesterday," said Mr. Rayner, "I was speaking of a conversation I thought you had at Guantanamo on July 5. I find I have made a mistake about that and it is necessary for me to repeat my question. I suppose you will answer in the same way. He then asked: "Did you have a conversation with Commodore Schley on July 4, some time during the morning between 8 and 12 o'clock on his flagship at Santiago, in the course of which you used language as follows: 'Did you know that Jack Philip started to run away at the beginning of the battle?' and to which Commodore Schley replied: 'You are mistaken about that, Evans; I saw nothing of the kind. The Brooklyn made a turn and you must see the tactical situation that made it necessary?'" "I do not remember being on board the Brooklyn on the fourth of July. I think it was the 5th at Guanatanamo. I am quite positive I was not on board the Brooklyn off Santiago but once and that was a long long time before that. As to the conversation, I never said anything to the effect that Captain Philip had run away or attempted to run away. On thinking over it last night, what did occur with reference to the Texas, I think Commodore Schley and I discussed the position of the Texas when the fight began. The Texas was lying with her head to the east when the engagement began and she turned with starboard helm and headed off in the same direction as the rest of us. She fired first with her port battery, and then put her helm to starboard and headed in the same direction with the rest of the ships. I think that question I discussed with Commodore Schley. I cannot be sure, but that I ever intimated that Captain Philip attempted to run away with the Texas is preposterous on the face of it."

Denies the Conversation.

"Did you have a conversation with him on the same day, at the same place and at the same hour, or at any other place in which you used substantially the following language: 'I shot the bow off the Pluton, the stern off the Furor, put my helm to starboard and raked the Teresa and knocked out the Viscaya?'" "To the best of my knowledge and belief I never used such language."

"I want to call your attention to the report of Captain McCalla of the Marblehead on page 426 of the appendix, which says: 'Commodore Schley explained to the commanding officers that in the case the Spanish ships came out he wished to concentrate the batteries of all our ships on a portion of those of the enemy. This was not explained as tactical concentration of our whole force on part of the enemy, but as a division of our whole fire on several of the enemy's ships. During the time the commanding officers were on board the flagship, Captain Evans asked Commodore Schley if it were his intention to steam at the enemy's ships in case they should start to come out. Commodore Schley answered 'Certainly,' and added words indicative of his intention to attack them as they came out of the narrow defile?'" "I recollect it perfectly."

"Is that a correct statement?"

"That is correct."

"So there was a plan of battle arranged by Commodore Schley, was there not?" "There is nothing to indicate it from what you have read."

"Was that not the same order that was afterward given by the commander-in-chief substantially: 'Close in toward harbor entrance and attack them?'" "You have not read anything about indicating any plan of battle."

Mr. Rayner—"And added the words (reading): 'Indicative of his intention' to attack them as they came out. I want to read you two reports, your report of the engagement of the Spanish squadron, and I would like you to tell me whether there is any conflict between them and if there is which one of these statements in your judgment now is correct. (Reading) 'After having passed at 10:35 the Oquendo and Maria Terest, on fire and ashore, this vessel continued to chase and fire upon the Viscaya until 10:36, when signal to cease firing was sounded on board, it having been discovered that the Viscaya had struck her colors.' That was at 10:36 in your report. Now I want to read from the report of the commander-in-chief (reading): 'The Viscaya was still under the fire of the leading vessels, the Cristobal Colon had drawn ahead, leading the chase, and soon passed beyond the range of the guns of the leading American ships. The Viscaya was soon set on fire and at 11:15 she turned in shore and was beached at Aserraderos, 15 miles from Santiago, burning fiercely, etc.'" "I have no doubt you had it correctly."

"Which is the correct one? If there is a conflict between the commander-in-chief at the time the Viscaya went ashore and your report yours at 10:36 and his at 11:15, it becomes a material point to us which one of these specifications is correct?" "The times given in that report of mine were furnished by the navigator and executive officer of the ship. I, of course, did not take the record that he did."

At 3:58 p.m. the Schley court of inquiry adjourned.

Admiral Evans was then excused and Mr. Thomas M. Dieuaide, a newspaper correspondent who was on board the Texas during the Santiago campaign, was called.

Mr. Dieuaide said that when the battle off Santiago began he had been in the room of the junior officers of the ship and had immediately gone on the bridge with Captain Philip, remaining there until the chase of the Colon began. He had at the time made notes of the battle and these he read. The Texas was then, he said, heading in the general direction of the Spanish fleet.

Mr. Hanna—"Did you see the Brooklyn at any time after the battle began?" "I saw the Brooklyn shortly after the battle began."

"How far away?" "I would not like to make an estimate of the distance. It seemed very close. She was going seaward."

"Was she headed toward the Texas?" "She was on a course about right angles to us at that moment."

"Have you any notes on that subject made at that time?" "Yes, sir."

"Please read them." "I have a note made at 9:50 in quotation marks: 'Stop both engines, helm hard starboard.'"

"Who gave that order?" "Captain Philip."

"Where was the Brooklyn when that order was given?" "I presume the Brooklyn was in front of the Texas. I saw her a moment later."

Mr. Hanna—"Did you make any entry at the time with respect to the passing of the Brooklyn before the Texas?" "Yes, the next line here (reads), 'It was Brooklyn—close shave.'"

"Could she have been half a mile away?" "I should think not. Not anything like it. I would not suppose it was a quarter of a mile when I saw her. I was standing just aft of the conning tower by the entrance. It was in that way I heard these orders given and I wrote them down as Captain Philip gave them. I went around to the leeside of the conning tower to find out why we stopped. He, Captain Philip, waved his hand toward the Brooklyn and I saw her. He said: 'Look at that fellow going out to sea!'"

Admiral Dewey: "Did you hear Captain Philip gave order to back the engines?" "No, sir; I do not remember that I did; I turned away almost immediately."

Admiral Dewey—"You would have if he had given the order, wouldn't you?" "I might and might not."

Admiral Dewey—"You seem to have heard everything else." "Oh, nearly everything."

Captain Sigbee Called.

Captain Charles D. Sigbee, who commanded the scout ship St. Paul during the Spanish war, was next called. He fell in with the flying squadron on the evening of May 26th, the squadron then being 20 or 25 miles south of Santiago. He had reported to Commodore Schley that he "knew nothing positively" about the Spanish fleet. He was then asked if he had expressed his belief to Commodore Schley that Cervera's fleet was not in the harbor as reported later by Commodore Schley. A controversy arose over the admissibility of the question and the court took a recess for luncheon before receiving the report of the witness.

Mr. Rayner then questioned the witness, bringing out the statement that the purpose of the ship being sent to the vicinity of Santiago was, if possible, to locate the Spanish fleet. He said he had first seen the Spanish vessels in the harbor at Santiago, but that when he reported the fact he found the squadron had already made the discovery.

The court asked a number of questions of Captain Sigbee. These with the replies were as follows:

"What was the state of the sea on the afternoon and evening of May 26, when you communicated with the flying squadron to the southward of the port of Santiago?" "The sea was heavy for boats, but it was moderating, that is to say, more moderate than it had been two days before. I should say, however, it would have been a very difficult job to have coal-ed from ships alongside that night."

"Did Captain Wise communicate to you a dispatch from the navy department stating that the Spanish squadron was at Santiago?" "I remember no dispatch or communication from the navy department through him as senior officer at Port Hailey on May 20, the dispatch on which I proceeded ultimately to Santiago."

Mr. Hanna—"Captain, the dispatch referred to in the last question reads: 'Washington, May 20, 1898, rale care American consul, Cape Haltien, Hayd—The Spanish fleet arrived at Santiago de Cuba May 19, and as far as your coal permits, proceed at once off Santiago de Cuba, watch carefully and keep in communication with the Spanish fleet, reporting information, Minneapolis, St. Paul and St. Louis have same orders.'" "I cannot remember that he did."

At 3:58 p.m. the Schley court of inquiry adjourned.

Railroad Men Strike.

Scranton, Pa., Oct. 1.—The strike of the employees of the Scranton Railroad company, covering the entire Lackawanna valley from Pittston to Forest City, began Wednesday. Not a car started. The men refused to accept the offer of General Manager Sililman to leave the question involved in the discharge of the two Carbondale conductors to the arbitration of Bishop Hoban, or one of the priests of the diocese whom he might name, because the offer did not give the employees the representatives they demanded. Nearly six hundred men are involved.

Caused Surprise.

San Francisco, Oct. 1.—The announcement that E. H. Harriman had assumed the presidency of the Southern Pacific company, coupled with the appointment of Julius Krutschmitt as his assistant, was received in this city with considerable surprise, for the elevation of the fourth vice president to the chief administrative officer of the corporation had not been predicted. It is understood that Mr. Krutschmitt will assume most of the duties and responsibilities of the president, as all officers heretofore reporting to the president have been ordered to report to him.

Opportunity For "Sooners."

Washington, Oct. 1.—The interior department is rapidly completing plans for the opening of the Fort Hill (Idaho) Indian reservation. It is expected that the reservation, which contains 400,000 acres, will be thrown open to settlement within a few weeks. The Quinault reservation in Washington, comprising 300,000 acres, probably will be thrown open to settlement next spring. It is probable the old "sooner" system will be adopted at the opening of both these reservations.

Fog Hinders Navigation.

London, Oct. 1.—Early fogs are hindering navigation on the coasts. There has been the usual crop of minor casualties. The steamer Fanelia, from the Isle of Man to Glasgow, with 200 passengers on board, went ashore on the mull of Galloway. There was great excitement among the people on board, but there was no danger of loss of life.

Hotel Badly Scorched.

Houghton, Mich., Oct. 1.—The Douglas hotel was partially destroyed by fire. The loss is estimated at between $75,000 and $100,000. The building was heavily insured. All the occupants escaped in safety. The fire broke out in the kitchen and quickly enveloped almost the entire structure. After a hard fight the flames were extinguished.

Is Pat in the Toils?

Plainfield Junction, N. J., Oct. 1.—Pat Crowe, whose name figured so prominently in connection with the Cudahy abduction case at Omaha, is believed to have been arrested here last night. Deputy Sheriff George Blevin arrested the suspect on a freight train. The prisoner was taken to jail at Willimantic.

To Fight Steel Trust.

New York, Oct. 1.—Rumor comes from Cardiff that the near future will witness a huge amalgamation of British and Spanish iron and steel interests in order to do battle against the American steel trust on the European market. Inquiries made in London have, however, failed to substantiate the existence of such a project.

GERMAN TARIFF
Meets With Opposition From Both Austria and Hungary.

London, Oct. 1.—A correspondent gives many additional interesting details concerning the statement published in the Budapest Hirlap and reproduced and confirmed by the Magyar Nemzet, the Hungarian semi-official organ, to the effect that Austria and Hungary will decline to renew the commercial treaties with Germany on the basis proposed by the Germans.

The statement, which was given in the form of a communication from prominent Berlin politicians, says that the Hungarian premier, Kolo man De Szell, in conjunction with the Austro-Hungarian minister of foreign affairs, Count Goluchowski, and the Austrian government, have intimated to the German government that no treaty of commerce can be concluded with Germany along the lines of the projected German customs tariff. M. De Szell has stated that he opposes the projected German tariff in order to maintain the peace of Europe as well as to protect the economic interests of Hungary. It is also asserted that M. De Szell's action may save from disaster the German imperial chancellor, Count Von Buelow, who would rejoice to be rescued from the tariff deadlock.

PATRIOTIC SOCIETIES

Will Make an Annual Event of the Saratoga Pilgrimage.

New York, Oct. 1.—The president general of the Sons of the American Revolution and president of the Empire State society of Sons of the American Revolution has announced the dates for the "Saratoga pilgrimage." It will take place on Sept. 19, 20, 21 and 22, 1902, and will be made an annual meeting. It will be conducted under the auspices of the Empire State society. The pilgrimage will include Sons of the American Revolution, Daughters of the American Revolution, Daughters of the Revolution, the Society of Colonial Wars, Society of the Cincinnati, Friends and Patrons of America, Mayflower society and other organizations.

Deathbed Confession.

Topeka, Kan., Oct. 1.—The attorneys for John Collins, the Kansas university student who is serving a life sentence in the state penitentiary for the murder of his father, have in their possession what they assert is a dying confession of a colored convict, Thomas Hawkins, which declares that Johnson Jordan and Jesse Harper, the two negroes who figured so prominently in the Collins murder trial, are the murderers of James Collins. The statement was made by Edward Hacker, who claims that Hawkins gave it to him on his deathbed.

Want More Wages.

Chicago, Oct. 1.—Three hundred and fifty linemen and repairers employed by the Chicago Telephone company struck for higher wages. At present the wage scale is $2.75 a day for linemen and $3.00 for foremen. The striking employees demand an increase respectively to $3.25 and $3.75 a day. Officials of the company say the strike will not affect the operation of their lines.

Enlarging Locomotive Works.

New York, Oct. 1.—The directors of the American Locomotive company have authorized the expenditure of $1,250,000 to enlarge the capacity of the several plants owned by the company. The greater part of this money will be expended upon the Brooks and Schenectady plants. The allowance will bring the plants up to the capacity of about two thousand locomotives a year.

Plague at Naples.

New York, Oct. 1.—The state of public health at Naples is quite satisfactory and there have been no additional cases of plague since last Wednesday. Many prominent physicians think the disease is not the plague, but malignant pestilence, and that this is not epidemic.

Gunboat Foundered.

Copenhagen, Oct. 1.—The Danish gunboat Moon, while at gun practice with prismatic shells, foundered to the eastward of the middleground. Her masthead can be seen a few yards above the water. The crew of the vessel was saved.

Berlin, Oct. 1.—The minister of commerce, Herr Moeller, speaking at a banquet in connection with the sittings of the German commercial diet, declared the government was in a difficult position. It must admit that commercial treaties for long periods were necessary and that higher protection for agriculture was a political necessity.

Miners Strike.

Scranton, Pa., Oct. 1.—Eight hundred employees at the Pine Brook shaft of the Ontario Coal company struck against working with other men who had no working cards.

FIRE AND EXPLOSION

Result In Death of Seventeen Men In a British Columbia Mine.

BLAZE STARTED BY MINER'S LAMP.

Imprisoned Miners, Running With the Air Current Instead of Against It, Met Their Death Half Way.

Victoria, B. C., Oct. 1.—Seventeen men are dead as a result of a fire and explosion in Extension mine No. 2, belonging to the Wellington Colliery company. The flames started from a curtain which caught fire from a miner's lamp.

The dead: George Southcomb, timberman, married, with family, resided at Ladysmith, a native of Australia; Eugene Griffin, timberman, married; Weish, manager of the Lady smith baseball club; John Patterson, miner, married; Michael Dolan, miner, married; William Pollock, miner, single; E. Lynd, miner, married; John McCallum, miner, married; K. Blackley, miner, single; E. Hazel, miner, single; Frank Mottisha, pusher, single; Charles Noye, pusher, single; Archibald Reeves, pusher, married; Boyd, pusher, single; Antonio Pescetti, miner, single.

The fire broke out at the bottom of level number 3 and was communicated across the slope by one of the curtains. In half an hour the whole slope was on fire. Rescuers flock to the mine and reached the place where the miners had been at work, but the men had gone, running with the fresh air instead of against it in an attempt to get out by the accustomed route, thus meeting death half way. While the rescuers were at work several explosions occurred. When it was realized that the men could not be saved, a strong force started to choke the mine, but their work was undone by a terrible explosion which blew down the barricade. A little later the fanhouse burned.

James Thomas, a rough rider, had a thrilling escape. He was riding down the slope, and, seeing the fire coming, jumped off the car and ran. George Southcomb and Eugene Griffin, timbermen, called to him to follow them, but he ran up the slope for 1,000 feet to its mouth and barely escaped with his life. The other men were overtaken by the flames and perished.

The fire is still raging, but it is thought it can be extinguished without flooding the mine.

Action of Irish Societies.

New York, Oct. 1.—The United Irish societies of New York at a meeting rejected by a large majority the motion to appoint a committee to receive John P. Redmond and the other delegates of the Irish parliamentary party who are to speak in this city next month. The meeting was presided over by P. J. McNulty, vice president of the Ancient Order of Hibernians. The action was taken on the assumption that the Irish Americans would be satisfied with nothing less than complete independence for Ireland and that such a solution of the Irish question could never be obtained from an English parliament by constitutional methods.

Miss Eastwick's Trial.

London, Oct. 1.—Mary Josephine Eastwick of Philadelphia was brought up at the Guild Hall police court, charged with having forged a railroad certificate to the value of £100,000. The accused was pale and appeared to be more ill than ever. The principal witness against her was William Walker, an American resident of London. The evidence presented largely traveled over the ground already known. At the conclusion of testimony the judge committed Miss Eastwick for trial at the Old Bailey Oct. 21. She had to be assisted from the dock by the jailors.

THE INSTITUTE.

Mason County Teachers Meeting at the Court House.

All Interested in Cause of Education Invited to Attend—Subjects Discussed at Tuesday's Session.

The Mason County Institute was opened Tuesday morning with Bible reading and prayer by Supt. Blatterman. The present session promises to be as entertaining to visitors and the older teachers as it will be instructive to the younger "wielders of the birch." The meetings are held in the court house instead of at the High School Building as on former occasions. It's a matter of regret that the city teachers cannot be in attendance. All visitors are assured a comfortable seat, and Prof. Shipp will do the rest for you. You will be entertained, and all interested in the cause of education are urged to attend.

Prof. Shipp, the instructor, is too well known to the people of Mason County as an educator of the highest rank to need any introduction or recommendation. It has been four years since he conducted an institute here and those who heard him then have expressed their intention of hearing him again. He is a bright thinker, logical in the presentation of his theories and sprinkles in enough humor to make everything cheerful and entertaining.

Prof. Shipp's address Tuesday morning was along the general line of mind and its development. He said so much that was good that we could not give you the best without giving his entire address.

During the afternoon the subjects of writing and reading were discussed by different teachers and the instructor.

In organizing the following officers were chosen:

Secretary—Clarence Martin.
Reporter—R. F. Gaither.
Committee on Resolutions—L. C. Grimes, Miss Goddard, Jacova Bacon, Phoebe M. Waller.

A Fiendish Attack.

An attack was lately made on C. F. Collier of Cherokee, Iowa, that nearly proved fatal. It came through his kidneys. His back got so lame he could not stoop without great pain nor sit in a chair except propped by cushions. No remedy helped him until he tried Electro Bitters which effected such a wonderful change that he writes he feels like a new man. This marvelous medicine cures backache and kidney trouble, purifies the blood and builds up your health. Only 50c. at J. Jas. Wood & Son's drug store.

Mrs. Elizabeth Greenwood is seriously ill at her home on West Second street.

THE BEE HIVE

MERZ BROS' Advertising

Is an attempt to give people early news of styles, of changes in fashion, of Shifts in prices, of opportunities to get good things for LESS than usual. The advertisements are on the people's side—tell of defects, if any—put the purchasers in possession of facts that bear out what you need. Explain natures of hundreds of things that other merchants rarely talk about—frankly—manufacturers' secrets, mercantile systems, buyers' rights and privileges. In a word the advertisement puts the buyer in possession of circumstances surrounding the advertised article—gives you the benefit of our inside knowledge regarding what you buy, and after you have bought you have the privilege of bringing it back and getting your money back. That's our way of doing business. Very truly yours,

MERZ BROS.

D. HECHINGER & CO.

Just now we are somewhat torn up on the outside of our store rooms by reason of remodelling our windows; when done we will present quite a formidable front. The inside, however, represents a herculean strength that only is derived from handling merchandise superior in quality and, at the prices we sell them, cheaper by far than the ordinary run of ready-made clothing. Here you find the choice production of four or five of the most famous of Rochester's manufacturers.

None Made and Fit Like Them In the World!

The hundreds of young and old who buy them of us will tell you so.

In this season's stock we are stronger than ever before, strong in quality and weak in price. The quantities we buy, and the discounts obtained by paying for them as soon as they come in, enables us to sell you the BEST at reasonable prices.

We cannot tell you much more about our Shoes than you already know. No sensational prices. We simply buy the best made, sell them as low as conforms with good business ethics, and if you buy a pair that are guaranteed to you to wear well, YOUR MONEY BACK IF THEY DON'T.

THE REUNION FRIDAY.

Some Prominent Veterans of the Civil War to Speak at the Maysville Fair Grounds—A Pleasant Time Anticipated.

Editor Evening Bulletin: The citizens of Maysville and vicinity are reminded that a gathering of some magnitude will convene at the fair grounds on Friday next. These regimental reunions will continue, no doubt, for many years, and will always bring together a goodly number of ex-soldiers and their friends, whose presence in any city or town should be deemed an honor.

I therefore suggest that everyone of our citizens give this meeting particular attention and encouragement, with the view of permanently locating the annual meeting in our city. Several persons of more than local celebrity will be here from abroad Thursday night or Friday morning, viz: Gen. Joseph J. McCarty, of St. Paul, Minn., President of the Tenth Cavalry Association, who has already engaged rooms at the Central Hotel; James L. Foley, of St. Louis, and Maj. L. M. Hough, of Cincinnati, Commander of the Loyal Legion of Ohio, and there will be others.

Would it not be a neat thing for the citizens to organize and supplement the efforts of the various G. A. R. committees and Joseph Heiser Post to receive and entertain these specially mentioned comrades?

What is the matter with the Maysville Cornet Band? Won't their patriotism and pride of city prompt them to give us a mite of their time and talent gratis—just once?

C. C. DEGMAN,
Secretary Tenth Cavalry Association.

Harris' Nickel Plate is a Good Show.

The World Famous Nickel Plate show gave a splendid street parade, which was seen by large crowds. Despite being here after a holiday, the afternoon performance was well attended, and not one dissenting voice could be heard from among the large number who attended. The educated ponies, horses, camels and elephants gave a remarkable performance. The show is given in one ring, where one can see all that takes place, and is much more appreciated than one of the three ring kind. The acrobats, gymnasts, aerialists and riders were good. Those wanting to see a first-class show should not miss this one.—The New Era, Lancaster, Pa., May 1st.

Come in next Monday and see the Harris shows. You get your money's worth when you patronize Harris.

KENTUCKY CROPS.

Most of the Tobacco Has Been Housed—Corn Cutting and Seeding of Wheat and Rye in Progress.

[Weekly Bulletin of the Weather Bureau, Oct 1st.] Clear, warm weather prevailed until Saturday, when moderate rains occurred over the greater portion of the State.

With the exception of Saturday, the weather was ideal for tobacco cutting and housing, and at the end of the week about four-fifths of the crop was in the house. There are no complaints of house burning, and it is generally curing nicely and in excellent condition.

Corn is maturing rapidly and cutting has begun.

Wheat and rye sowing is in progress, and some rye is up. A fair crop of stock peas is being cut for hay.

Pastures have improved and are in excellent condition, except in the extreme north central portion. Sweet potatoes are quite good, but Irish potatoes are very poor.

Sorghum is a fairly good crop and molasses making has begun. Apples are scarce, but peaches quite fine.

Farm work is well up.
